No more requirement to work from home: free coffee for commuters at k kiosk

On Monday, 28 June 2021, k kiosk will be offering free coffee to all those commuters in Switzerland able to get back to their workplaces after the Federal Council's latest COVID-19 easing.

This finds the Valora format brightening up people's journeys throughout the country, prompted by a major relaxation in the COVID-19-related measures announced by the Swiss Federal Council on Wednesday. Amongst other things, the obligation to work from home is being replaced by a less restrictive recommendation to do so, and in-person teaching in higher education is once again being allowed in full.

The Federal Council's latest move also means that almost all Valora Group outlets in Switzerland will again be able to welcome their customers and extend their opening hours. Alongside k kiosk, these include avec, Press & Books, Brezelkönig, Caffè Spettacolo, SuperGuud and BackWerk. Valora views this as an important step towards normality.

Valora reminds its customers that official health and safety requirements will continue to apply at its outlets.
